-The Prince of Wales has invited the Prince Imperial of France to visit him. His Imperial Highness has lately entered his thirteenth year, and to a lad of his age even London will offer likely to visit shortly. His father is about to build a villa on the Palatine Hill of Rome, having purchased the site from the ex-King of Naples. Building operations have been begun already. -Just before the expiration of Andrew Johnson's Presidential term he signed pardons for Jacob and Moses Depew, of New York, father and son, who had been convicted of taking seized whiskey from the custody of internal revenue officers. The father had been sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and be imprisoned for two years, and the son to one year's imprisonment and the payment of one dollar. When President Grant was inaugurated the pardons had not been delivered to the Depews, and he immediately ordered them to be revoked. The Depews have, therefore, remained in prison, and are there still, but Clarence A. Seward, as their counsel, proposes to test the legality of President Grant's action in revoking President Johnson's pardons. He has accordingly taken out a writ of habeas corpus, and the case will be brought before Judge Blatchford, at New York, in a few days, for argument and decision, -Vice-Admiral Porter has written a letter on the subject of boating, in which he approves highly of aquatic sports as the most manly of all amusements, and expresses the opinion that it is useful to get up races abroad between ourvessels and those of foreign nations, if only to give us an insight into the speed of their boats and a knowledge of the muscle of the 'men who row them. Such knowledge will be useful in time of war. There is no reason why ships of war should be fitted with duli-pulling boats, when they can have fast ones, and the only way to find out what our boats are worth is to try them with those of foreign navies. The Admiral says it has been his great desire at the Naval Academy to develop the physique of naval officers. puny officer can nover efficiently lead boarders or repel them. He has started several boat clubs at the Naval Academy, which he thinks can compete successfully with any that row on salt or fresh water. They can make their good three miles in twenty minutes. He would like to have some good boat club try with the midshipmen. -In the State Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the State of Virginia, on Saturday, the Special Committee, to which was referred so much of the bishop's address as relates to innovations in the doctrine and worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church, submitted a report and resolutions. The report says that "these innovations which the bishop asks the council to consider, as the word imports, are comparatively of recent origin, and that the present reaction toward Romanism, in which they have culminated, does not date further back than the year 1833." The report concludes with the sentiment that "it is manifestly proper that any expression of opinion or protest on the part of the council should be accompanied by a plain statement of the false doctrines or unlawful practices brought into the church against which such opinion may be expressed or protest entered." This statement is given at length against the use of the term priest; against the substitution of baptism for saith; against the doctrine and use of the term "real presence," which differs in no material respect from transubstantiation: against the "use of a multitude of unauthoriz-

-Anna Dickinson was dressed in iron gray sills, trimmed with red, when she delivered her new lecture at the Cooper Institute Friday evening. She said it was "Nothing Unreasonable" for her to demand why she was denied the use of the ballot. Women are terribly in carnest in this matter, and will not be trifled with. Those of them who did not join in this movement are too lazy or too ignorant to know that they are wronged. Men should be as desirous that women should obtain their rights as women themselves are, for irresponsible power invariably injures those who wield it. Speaking of the differences between men and women, she said that neither she nor any other consistent advocate of woman's rights desired to ignore them. The sexes were intended to live together, and to help each other, the one making up for the deficiencies of the other. Of politics she said that, as she understood it, the word meant the science of government, but men seemed to think that it meant a scramble for office-every one for himself, and the devil take the hindermost. Miss Dickinson then dwelt on the influence woman, by her vote, would have on intemperance, schools, penitentiaries, and all questions affecting both sexes. She concluded her lecture by drawing a comparison between the behavior of women in convention and men, greatly to the advantage of the former, and by roundly abusing the editors of most of the leading newspapers.

CHARLESTON.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 3, 1869.

Our Landed Property.

The following table, compiled specially for The News, shows the average value per acre of the lands in South Carolina, and also the value of the buildings upon them, according to the returns of the County Assessors. It will be seen that the value of arable lands ranges from $1 71 to $17.00 per acre; and the wide difference of the assessed value of lands in contiguous districts is given as the reason of the unequal additions to the assessed value made by the State Board of Equalization. The statement, as it stands, however, is a most important one, and cannot fail to be of interest to the public:

The French Elections.

Enough is already known of the result of the elections for members of the Corps Legislatif, which took place in France on the something in the way of amusement. Nor is | 23d ult., to render it certain that the Opposition have made no gains outside of the large cities. There has been in different parts of the Empire a turbulence of feeling which might have led to serious trouble; but in some places this was doubtless caused by religious rather than political feeling, while in others it was so winked at by the authorities as to lead one to suppose that the agitation of the moment did not run counter to the policy of the government. It may have been desirable to cause the middle classes to feel that their most com plete security lies in a strong and stable government, and to cause every property holder to remember that a new revolution would shake the fabric of society to its base, and dispel those visions of national glory and national prosperity so dear to every Frenchman. This is but speculation. It is, however, certain that the most violent anti-Imperialists have been everywhere defeated, and that the government has a majority so large as to enable it to pass, without difficulty or danger, whatever measures may be considered necessary.

It has been said that Napoleon is afraid to grant the French people a form of parliamentary government, which, as in Eagland, would make the ministers personally responsible for the measures which they might introduce. Napoleon loves power. The experience of twenty years has made him believe that a personal government is best suited to the genius and habits of his people. Were it a simple choice between the two forms of government, he would undoubtedly prefer to be absolute in fact, as well as Emperor in name. For him there is no charm in the mere likeness of a kingly crown, and in a constitutional monarchy he had, doubtless, rather be the respensible prime minister than the kingly puppet, whose functions are limited to bearing a useless sceptre. But Napoleon is not living for himself alone. It is his fondest desire that his son may one day sit upon the throne of France, and the Napoleonic line may be as long and grand as that of the fallen Bourbon. The Prince Imperial, whatever his precocious intelligence, cannot be expected to grasp the reins with the steady hand of his father. And it is evident enough that the surest way of placing him in safety on the throne would be by establishing a popular government of which the Emperer would, indeed, be the head. but for whose faults and short-comings the ministers would alone be responsible. To establish such a government, however distasteful it may be to his own feelings, is apparently the one great aim of the present

At this time, Napoleon is not so strong as he was ten years ago. The failure of his plans in Mexico, the checkmate which he received from Bismarek, and a feeling that France is not now able to control the policy of her continental neighbors, have ed and superstitious ceremonies" in worship somewhat lessened his influence. Napople as much liberty as he could have safely given when the lustre of the Crimean and Italian campaign was undimmed by failures nearer home. The golden opportunity was lost, and Napoleon may now be compelled to wait for years before he can accumulate sufficient strength to allow him to carry out his cherished plan of divesting the Emperor of a large part of his personal authority, in order to make easier the career of his only son. A successful war might be the readiest means of regaining his old vantage ground, and should not be lost sight of as one of the probabilities of the future. We have no fear, then, that the increased strength of the government in the Corps Legislatif will induce the Emperor to curtail any of the privileges which the nation new enjoys. On the contrary, for the reasons already given, it is more likely to lead to their increase. And in scanning the French political horizon it must not be forgotten that Napoleon can point to accomplished facts, while his adversaries must deal in theory and promise. France has known, under Napoleon, a long period of peace and apparent prosperity. Her foreign and domestic commerce have grown in volume; her railroad and canal systems have been extended and improved; her cities have been made beautiful; and from the North Sea to the Mediterranean, and from the Atlantic to the Pyrennes, there is not a public work which does not bear the imprint of the genius and foresight of a Napoleon. These are things which the French see and understand, and if, for whatever reason, the Emperor steadily works out his plan of giving to France a true parliamentary government, the end of his career will nobly grown the labous and struggles of his life.

YOU OUGHT TO INSURE IN THE CHARLESTON BRANCH LIFE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA.

FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS: 1st. Because it is a home institution managed and outrolled by your own citizens.

2d. Because it is the only monied institution of he kind that loans its funds in the States from which the kind that loans its funds in the States from which they are derived.

3d. Because it is purely mutual; all policy holders share in its profits or earnings. Its large and increasing assets belong exclusively to the policy holders.

4th. Because its rates are lower than those of most other companies. And its dividends will be larger.

5th. Because it invests its funds at rates of interest averaging ten per cent. Wille Eastern compunies rates average less than seven per cent. This makes the dividends of the Association larger and the rates of premium smaller. One hundred dollars improved at aix per cent. for fifty years will amount to $1,84201. The same amount invested at ten per cent. will produce $11,739 09. Difference in favor of the ten per cent. investment $9,897 08.

12 DR. O. S. PROPHITT'S FAMILY MEDICINES.

CONSISTING OF HIS CELEBRATED LIVER MEDICINE ANODYNE PAIN KILL IT.

ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS, AGUE PILLS,

Dysentery Cordial, Female Tonic

PURIFYING PILLS.

THE EXCELLENT REMEDIES OF O. S. PROPHITT, M. D., need no recommendation—their well known power in removing the diseases peculiar to our Southern climate having already established for them an enviable reputation in Georgia and the adjoining States. As the insperity of persons living in the South are predisposed to disease of the Liver, it is granted by all intelligent physicians that most of the pains and sches of our people are due to organie or functional derangement of that important organ. Prophitt's Liver Medicine and Anti-Bilious Fills strike directly at the root of the evil. They cure the Liver, which in nine cases out often, is at the bottom of the Coughs, Dyspepsia, Colic, Sick Headache, Rheumatism, Constipution, Menstrual Obstructions, &c., so common among our people. Earache, Toothache, Acute Rheumatism, Neuralgia and bodily pains of every kind fice before PROPHITT'S PAIN KILL IT like chaff before the wind. PROPHITT'S LIVER MEDICINE. PROPHITT'S LIVER MEDICINE.

Dr. Prophitt—Having used this medicine sufficiently long to test its virtue, and to satisfy my own mind that it is an invaluable remedy for Dyspepsia—a disease from which the writer has suffered much for six, years—and being persuaded that hundreds who now suffer from this annoying complaint would be signally benefitted, as he has been, by its use, we deem it a duty we owe to this unfortunate class to recommend to them the use of this remedy, which has given not only himself but several members of his family the greatest roitef.

M. W. ARNOLD,

Of the Georgia Conference.

PROPHITT'S PAIN KILL IT

Of the Georgia Conference.

DOLLY COUNTY, GA, April, 1867.

This is to certify that I was confined to the house, and most of the time to my bed, and suffering the greatest agony imaginable with Rheumatism, for five months, and after trying every available remedy, with no relief, I was cured with two bottles of Dr. O. S. Prophitt's Anodyne Pain Kill It, each costing fifty cents only; it relieved me almost instantly. I therefore recommend it in the highest degree to others suffering from similar disease. I can say that it is one of the best family medicines now out, certain. Yours truly, W. A. FOREHAND.

Covington, Ga., July 9, 1867.

Dr. Prophit.—Having used your Liver Medicine for more than a year in my family, I cheerfully recommend it to all persons suffering from Liver affections, Dyspepsia or Indigestion in any form. I also recommend your Dysentery Cordial as the best remedy for that disease.

O. T. ROGERS.

STANFORDVILLE, PUTNAM COUNTY, Oct. 1, 1867.

Dr. O. S. Prophitt—Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have used your Ague Pills for the last ten years, and I have never failed to cure the Ague in a single instance with them. They always break the chilis the first day that they are given. I can recommend them as being the hest sque medicine that I have ever found, and they leave no bad effects following them, as Quinine, &c.

Yours respectfully.

A. WESTBROOK.

PUTNAM COUNTY, GA. September 22, 1868.

Dr. O. S. Prophitt—Sir—I have used for the last two years in my family your Liver Medicine, your Pain Kill It, and your Female Tonic, and I have no fears in saying that they are the best medicines I have ever used for the Liver and Stomach. Neuralgic and Rheumatic afflictions, Headache, Colic, and pains of every kind are subdued by them. After using the medicines so long, I cheerfully recommend them to any and every one, and to all that are afflicted, as the best and safest remedies for all the diseases for which they are recommended, &c.

Yours respectfully, JAMES WRIGHT.

DR. PROPHITT'S FEMALE TONIC. This Medicine, with its associates, is a safe and certain remedy for all curable diseases to which Females alone are liable. It is also an excellent preventative of Nervous Blisdness, or Nervous Diseases in either male or female. It is a powerful Nervine Tonic, setting up a full and free circulation throughout the system.

All of the above Medicines sold by Druggists and Merchants generally throughout the Southwest.
